

Learn Digital Art Photography Don't TAKE pictures MAKE them!

H.R. Downs is an experienced photographer with a strong background in Asian art. You will learn his personal tricks in Photoshop and Lightroom to CREATE photos with deep impact and meaning.

You need a camera that takes RAW files, a copy of Photoshop and Lightroom installed on your Windows or Mac machine. You will learn to DEVELOP digital files; how to edit photos from your shoots; composition; incredible selective focus and lighting tricks and even the basics of photography if you need that.

Downs is a graduate of the U.S. Navy "A" School of Photography in the 1960's. He's spent more than 12 years living in Nepal, two of them studying Tibetan scroll painting. His photo book Rhythms of a Himalayan Village, which came out in 1980, is still in print in India. Downs also studied Chinese painting in Taiwan and has shown his paintings in Chinese museums. Downs also worked as a still photographer and location manager for both CBS and ABC News in Asia for years. H.R. Downs brings all of this experience to photography.
